Foreword

The new 1961 membership of the Mennonite Church is 88,052, an increase of 1,719 or about 2 per cent over the 1960 membership. The increase for 1961 is 227 less than the increase in 1960, which was 1,946.

The total United States membership is 74,321, an increase of 1,196 over last year or 1.6 per cent increase over 1960. The 1962 Yearbook of American Churches reports a 1.8 per cent increase for the same year for the 227 Protestant bodies listed. The population increase for United States is 1.8 per cent. The Roman Catholic increase is 3.2 per cent.

According to the Yearbook of American Churches, the total Protestant membership of United States is 63,668,835 and the Roman Catholic membership is 42,104,900.

The Sunday-school enrollment in the Mennonite Church increased 4,837 to a total enrollment of 125,707.

The 1962 Mennonite Yearbook contains one new feature and one special feature. Requests have been received to include area code numbers with the telephone numbers. Area code numbers are being included for all ministers whenever other changes need to be made in names or addresses of ministers. Within a couple years it is hoped that all phone numbers will have area code numbers that are in use throughout the United States and Canada.

The special feature in the 1962 Yearbook is a geographical list of congregations arranged alphabetically by cities. For example, if you want to know whether a Mennonite church is in or near a certain city, you can find this information by looking under this city in the list. You will find this geographical index following the conference tables. All Mennonite groups in the Church Directory are included except the Old Order Amish churches.

Several conferences are beginning to use what they term "lay minister" or student pastor. This is not the same as a licensed minister. The editors do not know exactly the nature of the responsibility of this assignment. However, we have reported it for those conferences which have lay ministers or student pastors.

Special thanks are again due to all who helped to provide the information for the 1962 Mennonite Yearbook. Without your efforts in gathering data and in exercising care and accuracy the 1962 Yearbook could not be published.

Back of this data printed in black and white is an active, growing, and praying church, guided and filled by the power of the Holy Spirit. With this editorial vision we trust the 1962 Yearbook will serve as a useful reference work for all actively engaged in witnessing for Christ and building His church.—Z.

The Mennonite Church at the Beginning of 1962

By Paul Erb

The Mennonite Yearbook is devoted to giving information chiefly about the Mennonite Church, which is the largest (88,052 members) of a number of related groups in America which use the Mennonite name. This article gives an over-all description of the Mennonite Church at the beginning of 1962.

The organizational pattern of the Mennonite Church is diagramed on page 6. A small number of congregations which consider themselves a part of our denomination are not attached to any conference. But most of the 686 organized congregations belong to one of the twenty-one conferences which are members, or eligible for membership, in Mennonite General Conference. Member conferences appear on the chart under the solid line. Conferences under the broken line have not yet affiliated, but are considered a part of the denomination, and are counted in the statistical data in this Yearbook.

All but one of these twenty-one conferences elect representatives on the General Council of Mennonite General Conference. The Council normally meets four times in each biennium to discuss issues and to take interim action. All of the twenty-one conferences elect representatives on the Mennonite Publication Board, and most of them participate actively in the work of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities and the Mennonite Board of Education.

A great deal of the denominational program is carried on by these three boards. They are autonomous, i.e., not organizationally responsible to Mennonite General Conference, as the broken lines indicate. They report their work to General Conference, and since their constituency is the same, operate within its standards. Co-ordination of the church program is secured through the General Council, on which the boards have representatives, and especially through the Council's Committee on Co-ordination of Church Program. So, while the Mennonite Church does not have a centralized program, it can and does have a co-ordinated program.

To keep the organization chart simple, we have not diagramed the organization of the boards, beyond showing the connection of a few subsidiaries. The chart does not show the subsidiaries of Mennonite Mutual Aid, which functions under General Conference.

Mennonite General Conference

The Mennonite General Conference maintains offices at Scottdale, Pa. Its meetings are biennial, in the odd-numbered years. Member conferences may elect to send to General Conference one delegate for each 200 members. Bishops in conferences eligible for membership, but not yet affiliated, are delegates ex officio. Members of the General Council are also delegates.

The 1961 sessions of General Conference were held at Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 22-25. There was a total of 219 delegates. J. B. Martin presided; the Conference sermon was by Clayton L. Keener. Among those attending were Pastors Zedekea and Ezekieli of the Tanganyika Mennonite Church. The Conference adopted statements of position on Disaster Service and Civil Defense, the Remuneration of Church Workers, Recreation, and Christian Parenthood. Resolutions were adopted on Food for China, Communism and Anticommunism, and on the Every-Home-Plan for Gospel Herald subscriptions. A retirement plan for church workers was adopted, a plan for revising the Church Hymnal was approved, the Rocky Mountain Conference was received into affiliation, and a reorganization plan for the Commission for Christian Education was approved.

The General Council held only one meeting in 1961—at Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 22. The Council will meet in Chicago, March 29, 30, 1962.

General Conference operates on an annual budget of $87,035, given by the constituency on a basis of $1.50 per member plus 50¢ per Sunday-school pupil.

The organizational personnel of General Conference may be seen on page 11.

Mennonite Mutual Aid and its subsidiaries care for a number of economic needs within the brotherhood. Its business is carried on in a church-owned building at 111 Marilyn Ave., Goshen, Ind. Mennonite Aid, Inc., has a hospital-surgical membership of 22,395 adults and 15,199 dependents, and 2,410 adults and 2,068 children in burial aid. Claims paid in the biennium totaled $1,523,728. Mennonite Automobile Aid, Inc., had 3,511 vehicles registered and paid claims of $157,950. The Mennonite Foundation gives a service to those who want to deposit funds for later giving, and to those wanting help in estate planning. Mennonite Church Buildings, Inc., has made loans of more than $500,000 for church buildings and church institution contracts. Mennonite Aid Insurance, Inc., for survivors' aid has policies of over $1,000,000. Administration of a retirement plan for church workers, as authorized by General Conference, is in process of organization.

All of these are methods by which the Mennonite Church practices its principle of brotherly sharing.

Mennonite General Conference participates in the Schowalter Foundation, which in 1960 paid grants totaling $67,405 for the training and the retirement care of church workers. Schowalter Villa, opened in 1961 at Hesston, Kans., is one of the beneficiaries.

The Mennonite Commission for Christian Education plans and promotes education on the congregational level. This year it became a Board of Counsel and Reference for a new Curriculum Development and Service Department at Mennonite Publishing House. With the new arrangement there is no longer need for the conjointly appointed Curriculum Committee. The special theme for emphasis in 1961 was "Preparing and Sharing Church Workers." The emphasis for 1962 is "God Builds the Church Through Congregational Evangelism."

Mennonite Youth Fellowship, which functions under the direction of the Commission, held its annual meeting at Lebanon, Oreg., Aug. 17-20. The 1962 meeting will be held at Peoria, Ill., Aug. 16-19.

The Commission will sponsor three regional Summer Bible School Conferences in 1962: at Archbold, Ohio, March 31 and April 1; at Greencastle, Pa., April 7, 8; and at Denver, Colo., May 5, 6.

The 1961 conference on Christian community relations, sponsored jointly by the Mennonite Community Association and the General Conference Committee on Economic and Social Relations, was held at Metamora, Ill., March 3-5. The 1962 meeting, to be held at Goshen, Ind., April 5, 6, will be in the nature of a study conference on the use of tobacco and alcoholic beverages.

The first Secretary of Stewardship for the Mennonite Church began work in a Scottdale office on Aug. 1, and was installed at General Conference. He works under the direction of the Executive Secretary.

Mennonite Publication Board

The Mennonite Publication Board held its 1961 meeting at Doylestown, Pa., March 24-26. The 1962 meeting will be held at Scottdale, Pa., March 23, 24.

Ben Cutrell was installed as Publishing Agent on April 26, 1961, succeeding A. J. Metzler, who had headed the publishing work of the Mennonite Church for twenty-six years.

There are more than 200 workers in the literature services of the church. Sales in 1961 totaled $2,216,800, an

Mennonite Board of Education

The Mennonite Board of Education operates Goshen College, Goshen College Biblical Seminary, and Hesston College. The Board holds property and determines general policies; detailed control is exercised by boards of overseers. An Educational Co-ordinator, Paul Bender, is now, for the first time, giving half time to the work of the Board in fact-finding and promotion.

Eastern Mennonite College and Seminary is controlled by the Virginia Conference. Eleven high schools and 196 elementary schools are controlled by conferences, congregations, and other groups. The Board of Education has co-ordinating and promoting functions in the entire system of the church's schools.

The annual meeting of the Board was held at Hesston, Kans., Oct. 20, 21, 1961. Financing of colleges was a chief subject of discussion. Total assets of the Board are $5,228,622. Add to that the assets of Eastern Mennonite College and the eleven high schools, and the total is about $10 million. Donations to the three colleges last year were over half a million. All are engaged in extensive development programs. Enrollments in all the colleges are higher, still ahead of the projected enrollment.

The Ohio and Eastern Conference opened a high school at Kidron, Ohio, in September, 1961.

Under the Conrad Grebel Lectureship Committee, Harold Bender delivered the 1960 lectures on the church. These will be published in 1962. J. H. Yoder is working on the 1961 lectures, to be delivered in the fall of 1962. Paul M. Miller will prepare the 1962 lectures, to be delivered early in 1963. Virgil Vogt delivered the first of the John F. Funk lectures on The Christian Calling, which has been published. Early in 1962 Clayton Beyler will give the second of these lectures on "The Call to Preach." Calvin Redekop is preparing a Funk lecture on Church Schism, also for delivery in 1962.

Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities

The headquarters of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities are at Elkhart, Ind. The Board administers its work in home missions and literature evangelism through departments headed by secretaries. Four areas—Relief and Service, Mennonite Broadcasts, Health and Welfare, and Overseas Missions—are administered by committees. In 1961 the Board had for the first a full-time Secretary for Literature Evangelism.

The annual meeting for 1961 was held at Morton, Ill., June 22-25. The 1962 meeting will be held at Harrisonburg, Va., June 21-24.

Directly or in co-operation with district mission boards the Board carries on activities of various kinds in more than twenty overseas fields. It employed last year the services of 1,042 full- or part-time workers. It spent $1,775,000, receiving from the church over one and a half million dollars of that sum. Contributions last year were $200,000 higher than any previous year. Total mission and relief giving of the denomination, through all its boards, was $3,121,554. The budget of the Elkhart Board for the current year is $1,571,198.

The Eastern Board of Missions and Charities, serving the Lancaster Conference, is the chief missionary agent for one fifth of our membership. It operates missions in seven foreign countries. The Conservative Mennonite Board plans this year to open a mission in Costa Rica.

The Women's Missionary and Service Auxiliary carries on an extensive program enlisting the women of the church. The Auxiliary last year introduced a new publication, The Voice.

Mennonite Broadcasts, Inc., a department of the Elkhart board, with headquarters at Harrisonburg, Va., broadcasts ten different programs through about 270 outlets in eight different languages. Free correspondence courses are administered from both Harrisonburg and Elkhart, and in foreign countries in a total of six languages.

The Health and Welfare Committee administers six senior homes, seven hospitals, two children's homes, and a home school for educable mentally deficient children. A new hospital will be opened this year at La Jara, Colo.

The thrust of the Relief and Service Committee is in three areas: participation in Mennonite Central Committee foreign relief and service, services to men in I-W work, and Voluntary Service, which has approximately 178 workers in 30 locations, including four foreign countries.

Information Services made available in 1961 mission study materials on two age levels on Latin America. The subject for study in 1962 will be personal evangelism, for which courses are being prepared.

Under Literature Evangelism a new bookstore will be opened in 1962 in Brazil's new capital city.

A new Spanish magazine, El Discipulo Cristiano, began publication in January, 1962, at Buenos Aires. It represents a merger of two magazines, El Heraldo Evangelico (Scottdale) and La Voz Menonita (Buenos Aires).

Inter-Mennonite Activities

The Mennonite Church carries on a number of activities in co-operation with other Mennonite groups.

Chief means of this co-operation is Mennonite Central Committee, with headquarters at Akron, Pa., where a new office building was occupied last year. Co-operating groups number 19. MCC carries on an extensive overseas program of relief and rehabilitation in 25 countries. Its Peace Section co-ordinates the peace work of the various groups, especially in government contacts. It participates in the National Service Board for Religious Objectors, which maintains an office in Washington. MCC helps to resettle Mennonite refugees and in maintaining contacts with Mennonites in communist countries. It conducts mental hospitals at Reedley, Calif., Newton, Kans., and Hagerstown, Md., and is building another at Elkhart, Ind.

MCC carries on a program of voluntary service at home and abroad. Particularly effective is the Pax program in lieu of military service. Last year 133 men in 22 countries were building houses and roads, doing hospital and other humanitarian work, teaching better agricultural methods, and doing a variety of other tasks.

Total receipts of MCC in 1961 were $2,892,321. Of this amount, $1,865,831 was composed of gifts in kind—donated meat and clothing—and $783,693 worth of government surplus food. The 1962 budget is $1,065,354, not including material aid and institutions.

Mennonites from many countries of the world will convene at Kitchener, Ont., Canada, Aug. 1-7, 1962, for the seventh Mennonite World Conference. Three hundred delegates will represent the participating bodies, and the attendance should reach several thousand.

The Mennonite Church co-operates with other Mennonite groups in the Conference of Historic Peace Churches in Ontario, the emerging Conrad Grebel College at Waterloo, Ont., the Association of Mennonite and Affiliated Colleges, the Mennonite Research Fellowship, the Association of Mennonite Hospitals and Homes, the Association of Mennonite Aid Societies, Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminaries in Indiana, Mennonite Biblical Seminary in Uruguay, Association of Mission Board Secretaries, the preparation and use of Christian educational materials. Foreign missionaries in several fields have intergroup relations. We have co-operated with European Mennonites in publishing and Bible school work. In America there has been co-operation in evangelistic campaigns.

Directions

Growth and change are seen in almost every phase of the life and work of the Mennonite Church. Outreach and wider testimony are in evidence almost everywhere. Many question whether all the changes are for the good. Intersectional tensions test the unity of the church. The church is responsible both to maintain its distinctive Christian witness and to publish that witness more effectively.

Christian K. Lehman (1881-1961)

By Ira D. Landis

Christian K. Lehman (Nov. 21, 1881-March 12, 1961) was born in the Manor Township home of Bishop Daniel N. Lehman (Oct. 12, 1852-Sept. 12, 1925) and Magdalena Kendig (Jan. 14, 1853-Aug. 22, 1943), where he lived most of his life (Landis Book II, pp. 14, 15). He was reared to love agriculture, music, and his church. The Masonville-Habecker Sunday school and church were his early religious nurseries, in addition to the parental home training. He graduated from Millersville State Normal School, three miles from his home.

He was called to teach at Cherry Grove (later Hammer Creek) in Clay Township, at Garfield in Mt. Joy Township, and at Mastersonville and Fruitville in Manheim Township. Then he taught science at Lititz High School, 1907-12. After this he returned to farm the homestead, but the schoolroom still called him to Central Manor and Prospect Hill until he was ordained to the ministry, when he was asked to leave the schoolroom. However, in 1945-46 he was on the Lancaster Mennonite School faculty as a music instructor, and in 1948-49 he taught one year at the Millersville Children's Home School.

On June 7, 1906, he was married by his father to Mary R. Leaman, a daughter of Nathaniel Leaman and Annie Risser of Lititz. The Lehmans lived in Lititz while Christian was teaching in the borough, but afterward moved to the Manor Township homestead. They were blessed with ten children, eight surviving: Arthur H., Gilbert N., Daniel W., Esther E. (Gleason), John R., Paul J., Christian K., B. Frank, Mary R. (Lehman), and Miriam E. Lehman.

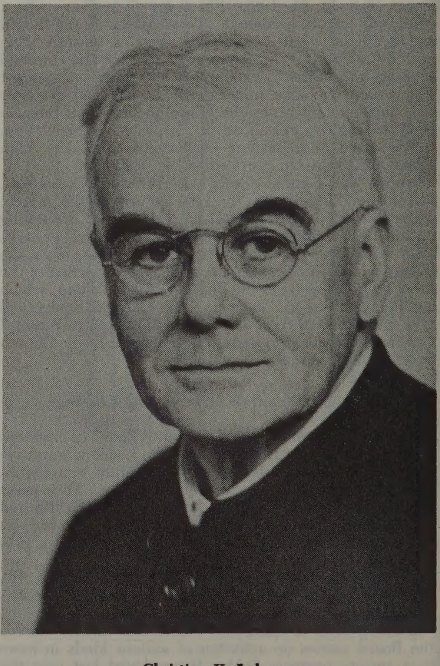
He was ordained by lot by Bishop Abram B. Herr for the (Central) Manor circuit on May 15, 1917. Besides his ministerial work, he served in singing schools on the congregational level across the conference, a few times as an evangelist and sometimes as a Bible teacher. Over the years he conducted thirty such singing classes consisting of thirteen nights, strengthening our congregational singing.

On Sept. 1, 1938, he was ordained by lot at Millersville as bishop of the divided district of John H. Mosemann. The day before, he had a revelation while he was in the field that he would be ordained, even though the lot was used. He ordained twenty-five brethren, married one hundred couples, served at many funerals, and helped in the conference work wherever called.

As a bishop, with his kind loving disposition he tried to imprint the same characteristics on his membership. In nearly every message he stressed love among the brotherhood (John 13:34, 35) and faithfully enduring unto the end (Matt. 24:13). In this way he faithfully served the 921 baptized members of his present district. He assisted in the burial of many of his members who finished their courses with joy. After he was partially incapacitated for two years, he also entered into his deserved rest. The funeral at Millersville was attended by many.

He reflects in his older years, "On the 1769 farm house porch I recall my father and mother singing together that old song, 'The souls are happy resting; never more will they roam, never more will they sorrow; they are gathered home, gathered home.' I have never seen that hymn in any hymnbook. I was so young that I didn't know right what they were singing. I thought they were saying, 'rusting.' I knew what iron did when it rusted—I wondered what souls did when they rusted. We always had music in the home and conducted it continually. I remember when Father brought home in the market wagon our first organ."

He recalled a picture of the two eternities on the wall of his home. "That picture has had an effect on me and from that time I have always wanted to be on the straight and narrow way and never on the way where people were dancing and dropping into the fire."



Christian K. Lehman

Discipline in the home was "always strict." "If our parents told us to do something or not to do something, they enforced it. If one of our parents punished us, we never thought of going to the other for comfort. I remember on the mantel shelf was a piece of wood about thirty inches long. P-E-R-S-U-A-D-E-R was printed on the side of it. To us the meaning of that word and the knowledge of the use of that instrument was enough. If words were not enough, there was added pressure. Those things have been lost in the home, as you realize.

"There was never any question about whether we would go to church or not. It was understood that we go to church and Sunday school. Our Sunday school started when I was but a child. I remember the church services. The preacher stood back of a table and at that table about six or more singers sat. I remember hearing my grandfather preach. He began in a low tone or voice and would get higher and higher and then start in a lower tone again. Sometimes we would imitate him—not to make fun, because that was just how preachers spoke.

"I thank God for a godly home and for godly parents who taught us the way of life. We can never repay them, but we can pass it on; so let us do that."

Bro. Lehman wrote numerous articles for the Missionary Messenger and the Pastoral Messenger. In an unpublished manuscript was found a set of guides and procedures for song leaders in worship services.

His spirit can best be portrayed in the following excerpt from the 1946 Laurel Wreath (cf. Mennonite Research Journal, Vol. II, No. 2, p. 18) when he served on the Lancaster Mennonite School faculty: "May the melodies and messages of the songs we sang together keep ringing in your hearts, inspiring you and better preparing you to mingle your voices with all the redeemed in the glory world, singing the songs of Moses and the Lamb, to the praise of His glory, who washed us in His precious blood. He hath made us kings and priests in His glorious kingdom."

Elmer G. Swartzendruber (1890-1960)

By Morris Swartzendruber

Elmer G. Swartzendruber, born Jan. 14, 1890, was the son of George and Nancy (Hershberger) Swartzendruber. His father, better known in the community as Young George because of an uncle by the same name, was a respected man of strong Christian character and principles. The farm where Father was born, six miles north of Wellman, Iowa, was his home until he retired from active farming in 1944 and moved to Wellman. Later he built a new home nearby, where he passed away.

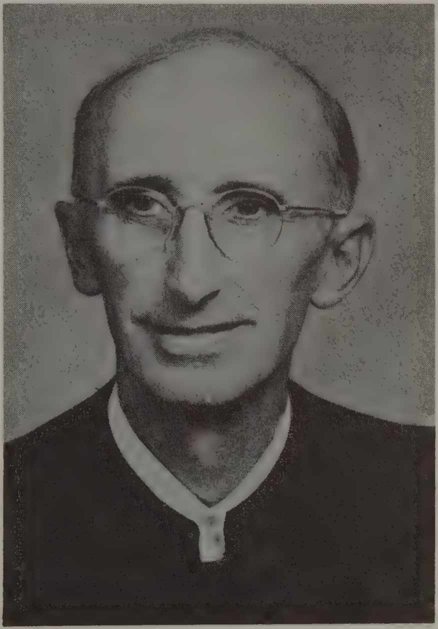
On Dec. 3, 1912, he was united in marriage to Mary Bender, a neighbor girl with whom he had gone to school through the years. To them two sons and five daughters were born: Mildred—Mrs. Dan Graber, Morris, Effie—Mrs. John Miller, Edith—Mrs. William Nisly, Ellis, Ethel—Mrs. Henry D. Miller, and Mary—Mrs. Vernon Ropp. These all reside in the Wellman-Kalona area with the exception of Ethel, who lives with her family about forty-five miles away. It was Father's privilege to baptize all of his children except the oldest who became a member of the church before he was ordained bishop. He also performed the marriage ceremony for each of his children. Today all of them, with their companions, are members of the church in which he labored.

In his youth he was baptized and became a member of the church. He was one of the fifty-two charter members of the Upper Deer Creek congregation. When the need arose for ministerial help in the church, he was chosen by lot to serve in this capacity. He was ordained by lot to the office of bishop in 1931 by Bishop Gideon A. Yoder. Father's leadership was one of strength and character. During the time of his service the church grew from fifty-two members to a total of over 500. Instead of one small church house, today there are three. Also during this time eight ministers were ordained to serve the church, seven of whom are active today.

Father's interests were many and varied. In his community he was recognized as an authority on church and family history. The completeness and order of his file attest to this fact. It is largely because of his keen interest in missions that two outposts are sponsored in Minnesota, by the Iowa church, and that a number of young people have served in Pax, in foreign mission work, and in home missions.

He was responsible to a large degree for the opening of foreign mission work by the Conservative Mennonite Conference, making a trip to Europe in 1950 to investigate the possibilities of this work. His understanding of the work and responsibility of conference was acknowledged and respected by those with whom he worked. There were few positions of responsibility in the conference which he did not fill at one time or another. He was in demand as an evangelist and was often called upon to officiate at ordination services throughout the conference.

He compiled the centennial anniversary booklet of the Amish and Mennonite Church and was a charter member of the Iowa Mennonite Historical Society. He was also a member of the State Historical Society of Iowa. He was instrumental in the building of the Pleasantview Home,



Elmer G. Swartzendruber

Kalona, Iowa, and served as secretary of the association until his last illness.

Father's orderly and logical mind was reflected in the way he kept his records of farm work and of church and community life. He was often heard to say, "A Christian should have reason for everything he does and the way he does it." His preaching was characterized by language that was concise and descriptive, born of clear thinking and deep conviction. It was his desire to be Scriptural and to allow God to direct in all things. His life and preaching gave clear evidence of this.

Father's formal education was limited, having gone to school only until he was sixteen. At that time the elementary schools did not teach the wide range of subjects taught today, but through reading and study he continued to gather information in many different fields. He had a good command of the English as well as the German language, and was able to express his thoughts fluently in both.

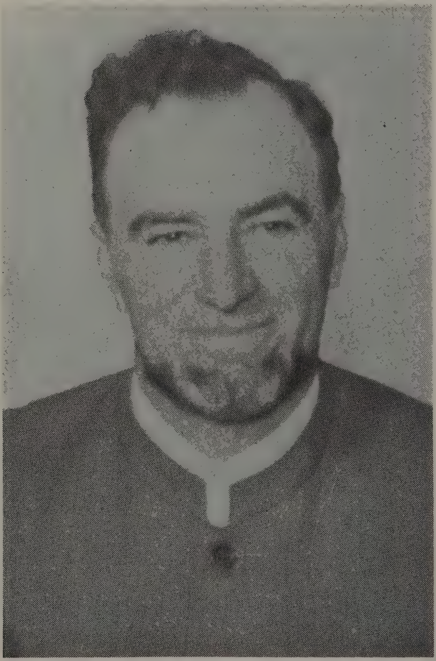
Physically, he was never as strong and healthy as many others, but this did not seriously handicap his work in the church. It was early in 1957 that he had an operation which later proved that he had cancer. From this operation he recovered sufficiently to resume his work until April, 1959, when it was found necessary to operate again. Following this operation, he improved somewhat and was able to attend church services several times, but through the summer and fall, he gradually became weaker. He passed away at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, 1960. His wife was constantly at his bedside and very ably, with the help of others in the family, cared for him until the end.

Victor Kropf was in charge of the funeral service at the Upper Deer Creek Church. Many friends and acquaintances of the community and a number of ministers from other states attended the funeral. Several of the guest ministers, as well as bishops from other churches in the community, gave their testimonies at the funeral. Valentine Headings of Hutchinson, Kans., preached the sermon. Just a little less than a year later he passed away because of the same illness. Father's body was laid away in the nearby cemetery, where he had assisted in laying away so many who had gone before him.

Since his death he has been greatly missed in the church and in the family circle. His was a strong personality and such men are always missed. His life was not an easy one, and many were the problems he faced and the decisions he needed to make. Through trying times, difficulties, and opposition he conscientiously sought for and defended the truth as he understood it. His first concern, along with his family, was the welfare of the church he served. The many who came to him for help and advice found him an able and wise counselor. He always found time to help them. Certainly his influence in the church will continue to live.

Valentine J. Headings (1909-1961)

By Leander N. Mast



Valentine J. Headings

Valentine J. Headings, Jr., son of Valentine J. and Mary Ann (Helmuth) Headings, was born on Nov. 2, 1909. He grew up with his four brothers and three sisters on his father's farm near Hutchinson, Kans., in Reno County.

He was baptized in the Old Order Amish Church on Oct. 3, 1931. The next year, on Dec. 8, he was married to Fannie Miller, daughter of David and Mary (Yutzy) Miller. They set up housekeeping on a farm near his father's, where they were living when he passed away. Of their two sons and four daughters, one daughter preceded him in death.

They transferred their church membership to the Conservative Mennonite Church which was established in their community in August, 1948. On Dec. 22, 1949, Nevin Bender ordained Bro. Headings to the ministry by lot to assist Noah D. Miller. Two years later the writer was ordained to assist him when Bro. Miller moved elsewhere. On May 24, 1953, Bro. Headings was ordained bishop. Soon afterward the writer was asked to take charge of a work the congregation began in Arkansas. Again he was left alone in charge of the congregation until April 25, 1954, when Jonas P. Yoder was ordained. When the need arose for another minister, Willis Nisly was ordained on June 12, 1960.

Bro. Headings was moderator of the Conservative Mennonite Conference in 1959-60. He was used in evangelistic meetings as well as in Bible meetings throughout the conference. He served as state counselor for I-W men for seven years. He was also a representative for the Prairie View Hospital of Newton, Kans., for seven years, and was a representative for the Christian Rural Overseas Program for five years.

He had been quite healthy till sometime after his ordination, when he developed a stomach ulcer. Then after the conference session in August, 1960, he became ill and never regained his normal health. On Nov. 6, 1960, just before a series of meetings by Jesse Yoder, he preached his last message—"Prayer Changes Things."

On Nov. 24, 1960, he served communion with Jonas Yoder. During the week previous to Dec. 4, he spent a lot of time preparing a message on "The Christian Hope," but he never preached this message at his church.

That Saturday night he became quite ill, and by Sunday evening he was not able to sit up in bed. The following Tuesday morning he was anointed by Harry Diener.

He was then taken to the hospital, but through the weeks his condition grew worse. It seemed that all the while he was at the hospital his life preached the sermon that he had prepared on "The Christian Hope." From the beginning of his illness he was committed to God's will. To his wife, his daughter, and the doctor he said, "I had hoped it wouldn't need to be that [cancer]. But if that is what God has for us, we want His will for us."

He was a man with much concern for others. Even up till he breathed for the last time he prayed much for his family, his congregation, and the work of conference. Though his condition was such that one could not have a conversation with him, it was amazing how intelligently he could pray. He witnessed to the doctors and nurses of his strong faith and dependence upon the Lord.

Bro. Headings was relieved of his pain and suffering when the Lord took him on Feb. 1, 1961, at 2:35 a.m. Many came to his funeral to pay their last tribute to him. He was the second one to be laid to rest in the cemetery at the Plainview Church at Hutchinson, Kans.

He was widely known in his community and respected as a man of God, though not all appreciated his testimony because of the conviction of sin it brought to them. In conference he will be remembered by many of the young ministers for his words of encouragement and counsel. The last words he spoke to the writer, on Jan. 4, were words of encouragement and praise to God for His goodness.

He will be remembered for his love and forbearance and for his desire to obey God's will. He had a deep desire that others would walk in the Saviour's steps and he believed firmly in the power of prayer. He was faithful in doing what he believed the Word taught. But if he found himself in error, he was quick to make things right. Since his death, people give their testimonies of what he meant to them. They remember his strong Christian witness and his love for God. He showed to those who knew him what the following verse means: ". . . Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev. 14:13).

These Are My People

HAROLD S.
BENDER

by H. S. Bender

This Conrad Grebel Lecture, to be published July 15, 1962, is about the people of God, who they are, how they live together, and how they serve God. Much help will be found here on the subjects: the body of Christ, the nature of Christian unity; the nature of the church and her discipleship; and the marks of the people of God. $3.50

Everyone agrees that spiritual maturity is one of the greatest needs within the Christian church today. Not everyone agrees as to what the signs of spiritual maturity are, nor do they agree as to how to achieve spiritual maturity.

In this book the author measures spiritual maturity by degree of conformity to the nature and character of Christ. Spiritual growth can only be realized through the work of the Holy Spirit. Spiritual perfecting is dependent upon the Spirit's presence. We are just as filled with the Spirit as we want to be. We grow as much as we allow ourselves to grow. It is spiritual growth which keeps the Christian's life vibrant and victorious.

This is not a how-to-win-friends kind of book. Nor is it on self-reformation techniques. It is not a book of descriptions for you to size up your neighbor. Instead it gives heart information, encouragement, and insights into the Christian's relationships to God. The power of God is emphasized. This is a book for anyone who wants to grow spiritually and enjoy "plus" living. $2.50

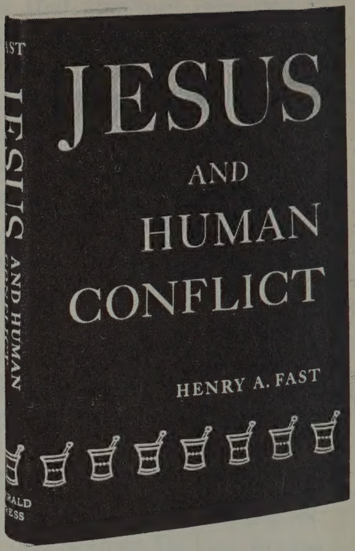
Jesus and Human Conflict

by Henry A. Fast



Few sayings of Jesus have been as perplexing to Christian people through the centuries as those dealing with the principle of nonresistance. The demand of Jesus appears so absolute and unqualified. It does not seem to take into account many problems of practical ethics.

There is much controversy over just what Jesus meant when He gave the Sermon on the Mount. Did Jesus really mean what He said? Didn't He go too far? Is Jesus' teaching practical in a world like ours? In the interest of "realism" and in the light of other Biblical teachings should not His words be qualified? To discover the purpose, meaning, and implication of the principle Jesus proclaimed is the main purpose of this book.

In this study Dr. Fast begins with a careful analysis and explanation of the primary passage in Matthew and Luke. He supplements it by referring to some of the higher ethical teachings of the Old Testament and of later Judaism.

He carefully examines the revolutionary activity prevalent in the time of Jesus together with such portions of the Gospels as appear to have a political reference to discover, if possible, what relation Jesus had with the political situation of the time.

A study of a large number of related passages, some of which appear to justify resistance and the use of force, and some that appear to reinforce the teaching of Matthew 5:38-42 and its parallel in Luke are included. The concluding chapter gives a comprehensive summary of his findings.

The solution to human conflict, the author contends, does not come apart from understanding Jesus' death on the cross and His whole purpose in revealing the will of God. $3.75
